The goals of this informative workshop will be to increase your ability (1) to create effective surveys that provide valuable program information; and (2) to conduct focus groups to inform program practices and demonstrate outcomes. Attention will be given to how to use these methods with non-English speaking populations, low literacy populations, and special needs populations. Bring your questions as Dr. Plunkett will be available to help brainstorm ideas on how to use these methods with your programs.

$100 PER PARTICIPANT - MAKE YOUR RESERVATION EARLY, SPACE IS LIMITED!

Scott Plunkett, Ph.D., Professor of Psychology started his professional career developing and supervising youth programs. He has since designed and implemented program evaluations for a variety of educational and community programs and has extensive experience teaching practical approaches to program evaluation.
